What they're saying about this award-winning species survival strategy game:

"I played this game with kids and they just went bonkers over it. Housing an animal is a fun and wholesome and entertaining activity that people are going to like. This is an excellent family game." Tom Vasel, the Dice Tower

"The concept behind this is incredibly clever. This game is going to be different every single time you play. A fantastic learning opportunity for kids, 'cause there's lots of animals you really don't know too much about. The tiles and the photographs are very engaging." Susan Baldacci, Radio New Zealand National
